

If I'm seeking compensation for goods that are faulty, do I have to accept a credit note?

No, you do not have to accept a credit note unless you wish to do so. As the customer, you have a right to request a refund or repair first.