

How can a firm abuse its dominant position?

Abuse of dominance occurs where a dominant firm engages in conduct that impedes the maintenance or development of effective competition. Common types of abuse of dominance include, exclusive dealing, market restriction and predatory pricing.