

What is market restriction?

Market restriction occurs where a supplier, as a condition of supplying a product to a customer requires that customer to supply its goods only in a market predefined by the supplier.