

Do I have to resell goods at a price specified by my supplier?

No. It is an offence for a supplier to influence the maintenance or an increase in the price at which an independent dealer offers to sell those goods or services. This is referred to as resale price maintenance in the Act.